

Coastline Community College

Military Spouses Program

Associate in Arts (AA) – Major in History

DEGREE OBJECTIVE—A major in history provides students with skills in historical research and analysis, a chronological understanding of the past, and factual knowledge of specific historical periods. Study yields an appreciation of US history, as well as the histories of other people and cultures, which enhances multicultural understanding in the workplace and everyday society. Historical study is advantageous in developing valuable career skills in research, writing, argumentation (interpersonal communication), and documentation. Such skills and knowledge prepare students for careers in education, law, government, business, management, public relations, writing, and research.
